Manuscript Title:

Author(s):

The United States Copyright Act of 1976 provides that a copyright remains with the author until transferred in writing. The purpose of this document is to transfer the copyright in the above-named manuscript and all portions thereof (whether in written or electronic form) from the author(s) to AlphaMed Press, Publisher of Stem Cells.

Publisher's Obligation. The Publisher shall, upon determination of acceptability, publish a suitably edited and revised manuscript. The author(s) shall receive no royalty or other compensation for use of the material contained in the manuscript.

Author's Consent to Publish. The undersigned author warrants the originality of the material in the above-named manuscript, that the copyright for the material has not been previously transferred, and that he or she has the authority to transfer the copyright on behalf of all co-authors. Each author, with the exception of U.S. government employees, hereby assigns and transfers exclusively to the Publisher all of his or her rights in the material (whether in written or electronic form) in the above-named manuscript as now or hereafter protected by the Copyright Laws of the United States of America and the Universal Copyright Laws, for all purposes and for the duration of the copyright, including all subsidiary rights.

Authorship. Please confirm the following statements:

- I confirm all authors are in complete agreement with the contents of this manuscript.
- I confirm all authors are prepared to abide by the policies of this journal.
- I confirm this manuscript is currently not being submitted elsewhere.

The authors were assisted by a scientific writer in the preparation of this manuscript.

Rights to Reproduction. Rights to reproduce all portions of the material from the published manuscript are granted exclusively to the Publisher. However, the Publisher grants to the author the right to reproduce all or portions of the material in any other publication of which the author is an editor or author provided proper accreditation to the original published material is given to the Publisher.

Author's Obligation. Proffered manuscripts that are accepted for publication will be assessed a publication fee of $1,500, which includes all page charges and any applicable color charges. The author agrees to pay this fee to the Publisher within 30 days of receiving the Publisher's invoice. If an author is unable to support this publication fee, it is his or her responsibility to inform the Publisher at the time of manuscript submission. (Invited manuscripts are exempt from the publication fee.)
